

ABORIGINAL SUICIDE PREVENTION through the lens of Griefology

National 2 Day Training Program

Rosemary founded the Healing Centre for Griefology™ in 1993 and in 2018 was accepted into the Master of Philosophy at University of Adelaide.

Suicide rates among Aboriginal communities are devastatingly high, and the traditional approaches to understanding and preventing suicide seem inadequate. The lack of culturally sensitive and effective methods has left many feeling lost and without proper support.

Generations have suffered the pain of losing loved ones to suicide, feeling hopeless in the face of this ongoing crisis. The existing strategies have failed to address the deep-rooted causes and provide sustainable solutions, leaving communities in a perpetual state of grief.

GRIEFOLOGY FOR PREVENTION

Introducing the Griefology Framework© by Rosemary - a groundbreaking approach that not only sheds light on the underlying causes of suicides but also offers a path to prevention. With over 30 years of experience in supporting individuals with suicidal ideations, Rosemary's methodology goes beyond theory; it is born out of real-life experience. Her research has been published, peer-reviewed, and proven effective in bridging the gap between understanding and action. Embrace Griefology to honour those we've lost and pave the way for a brighter, safer future for Aboriginal communities.
