Meet Rosemary

HEALING CENTRE FOR griefologyTM

As a Griefologist, Rosemary brings nearly 31 years of experience in clinical loss and grief counselling. She is also a skilled facilitator, assessor, public speaker, and consultant on various research projects. Her pioneering work in Griefology introduces a much-needed discipline to the field of social and emotional well-being, offering new ways to address mental health challenges across diverse cultural contexts.

Rosemary's professional foundation stems from her personal 'lived experiences', which she deeply explored through intuitive research between 1987 and 1992. This research led to the development of the Seven Phases to Integrating Griefology®, a model that provides a culturally safe and responsive approach to counselling. As a member of the Stolen Generation, Rosemary's journey of healing and growth inspired her to create a practice that supports individuals in their grief integration processes, irrespective of cultural background.

Rosemary's significant contributions to the field were recognised when she was accepted into the University of Adelaide's Master of Philosophy program in 2018, further validating the relevance and impact of her work.

Griefology acknowledges that loss and grief are universal human experiences.

For Social and Support Workers Caring for Young People in the Department of Child Protection

The Healing Centre for Griefology's point of difference lies in Rosemary's integration of her personal lived experiences into every aspect of her work. Grounded in a grief (trauma)- informed model, the Seven Phases to Integrating Griefology, her approach and delivery are deeply rooted in our shared humanity. Rosemary's model creates a safe space built on compassion and transformation and free from pity, paternalism, condescending beliefs, shame, blame, or demonising. Truth-telling remains at the forefront of instilling deep and meaningful allyship.

Key Terminology in Griefology:

- Tangible and intangible losses: Recognising both tangible and intangible of loss
- Grief emotions: Understanding the diverse emotional responses to loss
- Grief triggers: Identifying events or experiences that may evoke grief reactions
- Reflective and creative grief tools/activities: Using creative methods to process grief
- Intuitive intelligence: Trusting one's inner wisdom during the grief journey
- Grief fears: Acknowledging fears associated with the grief process
- Normalising loss and grief as a part of the human experience.

“Griefology is a place where grief meets inspiration”

HEALING CENTRE FOR griefology™

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF COUNTRY

The Healing Centre for Griefology and founder, Rosemary Wanganeen, acknowledge that the Kurna people are the Traditional Owners of Country of the land on which we are privileged to live, work, and play, and pay respects to Elders of the Kurna nation, past, present and future.

Rosemary acknowledges her gratitude for the sharing of modern Australia, and at the same time, expresses her deep sadness for the cost of this sharing particularly for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. We all have a right, a role, and responsibility to support the Reconciliation process and forge a path to a place of equity, justice, and partnership for all Australians.

The Healing Centre for Griefology further acknowledges all Traditional Owners of Country throughout Australia and Torres Strait Islands and pays respect to their continuing connection to the land, waters and community we are privileged to visit. We pay our respects to the people, the cultures and the Elders past, present and emerging.
